Categories: Feeding equipment, Modules

BESCHREIBUNG

The Stacking Magazine handles stacked components from a magazine. The Z-axis moves the components up and down in the magazine for loading and unloading.

The shape of the magazine is interchangeable so that the module can be used for a wide range of applications. The magazine for this module is developed specifically according to the components.

Due to the product height, the module can only be used in an OurPlant X3 with trolley system.
